stories will bring MAGA extremists to the side of progress, you're missing the point. They don't want the truth. They want the past. A past where oil ruled, horse-drawn carriages clattered through dusty streets, and entire communities were locked out of economic opportunity.

They don't want evolution. They want regression.

Under President Biden's administration, the clean energy economy exploded with growth thanks to demand-side capitalism—an economic model that puts people, communities, and consumers at the center of growth. Just like FDR's New Deal, this model props up the four-legged table of economic stability:

- Individuals
- Nonprofits and education
- Local governments
- And businesses

And it worked. We saw billions of dollars in federal investment. Thousands of clean energy factories opened. Jobs were created. Utility costs dropped. And—for the first time in history—Black and Brown communities began to benefit from the clean energy transition in real dollars and real infrastructure.

But then came the Orange Terrorist and his MAGA gang. And like clockwork, the Bond villains showed up to blow up the clean energy table.

Projects paused. Grants dried up. Regulatory rules changed. The very same states that benefited from Biden-era clean energy investments started banning the word "climate" from their websites and scrubbing solar from their state budgets.

Let's be clear: these people don't want to save the planet. They want to save power—for themselves and their fossil fuel backers. They're not interested in reducing energy costs. They want chaos, control, and rollback.

We don't have Tony Stark to invent a new Earth. We don't have Reed Richards to science us out of planetary collapse. We're not in a Marvel movie. We're in real life. And in real life, we either change our lawmakers—or we let them bury us with their oil-soaked future.

That's why the Change Maker Initiative is stepping up.

Just as we've done in cannabis and hemp, we are now organizing clean energy professionals, climate advocates, and community stakeholders to do the one thing that will move the needle:

Fire the Bond villains. Elect the planet savers.

This isn't about press releases. It's about power.

This isn't about bipartisan hand-holding. It's about voting the obstructionists out.

This isn't about compromise. It's about clarity.

We need a unified, pro-climate, pro-worker,
pro-equity bloc that makes electoral change as central to clean energy strategy as manufacturing panels or securing tax credits.

And the truth is: we're not alone. Workers fighting for paid sick leave. Women defending bodily autonomy. Communities protecting minimum wage laws. Black mayors trying to keep their cities afloat.
Cannabis equity entrepreneurs building new industries. We are all facing the same enemy —MAGA authoritarianism—and we must common-cause together.

If you grew up in a Black household in the '70s, you remember the card tables. You played Scrabble with pieces stored in a Crown Royal bag. That table only stood strong if all four legs were locked in. That's the metaphor. The MAGA crowd wants to saw off three of those legs and pretend the table won't collapse.

It will.

So we're starting the Change Maker Initiative for clean energy.

To build electoral power.

To shift regulatory policy.

To take back our future.

And to make sure Goldfinger doesn't win the next election.

If you're in this fight, it's time to pick a side.
And if you're ready to build the future, let's talk.
